

How do I decide what items to display in Cross Sell?

You can cross promo up to 52 of your live eBay listings within the animated gallery. These items are selected from your active selling listing automatically, but you can chose how this selection is made.

Within the settings section of the Froo! Cross Sell app you can select the sort order in which your items are selected from your active selling list. These settings are, Start Time, End Time, Price Highest and Price Lowest. If you select the Start Time option you newest listings will be displayed first in the gallery, and if your select Price Lowest you items with the lowest price will be selected first.

When changing this setting it you items will need to be re-cached from eBay to be displayed in the animated gallery, so there maybe a short delay from you making a sort selection to be being active in your listings.
